CLASSROOM WORKSHOPS & DRAMA RESIDENCY PROGRAMS

Expand your tool-kit: Learn how to implement creative dramatics, art, language, music, communication and behavioral awareness skills into your classroom. A teaching artist will lead you through customized workshops through a topic or themed lesson of your choice. Available Workshops:

CONFLICT RESOLUTION WORKSHOPS:

a two-part workshop

- TEEN ISSUES: It's Not Easy Being a Teen. This workshop covers a range of issues and social challenges faced by young adults today; labeling/cliques, bullying, peer pressure, self-image, etc. Workshops will discuss how home, school, and social environments (including social media) play a role in how teens deal with said challenges. Students perform scenes from popular films, and engage in theatre-based activities. Students are given a chance to discuss how they are affected by these issues, and tools to help create a healthier environment for themselves and their peers.
- CONFLICT RESOLUTION: Conflict is an integral party of any story, and therefore an integral part of the theatre! A good actor values the importance of listening (as opposed to just hearing), and understands the various ways that we as humans communicate what we truly feel and think.

PRE- AND/OR POST-PERFORMANCE WORKSHOPS

- FROM PAGE TO STAGE: This workshop is related to our current Education Series. Choose a performance book title that fits your classroom reading level, for a theatre-going education experience in relation to the workshop that will be created for you.
- SHAKESPEARE'S LANGUAGE: This workshop is best paired with a Shakespeare performance, or in conjunction with school curriculum covering a specific play. Shakespeare wrote plays to be heard, not read silently! Students will be given material with tools and pertinent information to use when reading (and performing) Shakespearean text.

IN SCHOOL DRAMA RESIDENCY PROGRAMS:

- Recommended as a 6-week session course, an extended version of our 1-2 hour workshops with a focus in TEEN ISSUES/ CONFLICT RESOLUTION, *SHAKESPEARE AND CLASSICAL TEXT, *SCENE STUDY or *PHYSICAL COMEDY

PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT:

Learn Creative ways to implement the arts into everyday lesson plans and discover Algonquin Arts Theatre widespread education resources. The Algonquin Arts Theatre is a registered provider of professional development through the New Jersey Department of Education I Provider #2871.

- CREATIVE DRAMATICS IN THE CLASSROOM: Tricks to reading "theatrically," to keep students engaged at story time, and to breathe life into the words and characters on the page

*Credited Workshop Themes, Topics and Titles by lead Teaching Artist, Audra Taliercio

PERFORMING ARTS ACADEMY

Performing Arts Academy offers students a chance to explore their artistic abilities in all areas of the performing arts all year-round. This 2016-2017 season we are offering a variety of classes and workshops that will structure the process of studying acting, singing, dance, improvisation, script analysis, storytelling, technical theatre, auditioning and internship project studies. All classes offer a suggested level of experience, as well as an age range. There is a class for everyone to explore, no matter how experienced or inexperienced. The performing arts is a practice where students will build personal integrity, inspire creatively, work together, take risks, foster self-esteem and an appreciation for the craft all while having fun!

TEEN NIGHT

Teen Night is designed to combat the alarming trend of teen suicide in the southern Monmouth County region by creating a comfortable, supportive environment that provides teens with a variety of diverse activities.

To achieve this, the Theatre asks you to join us for a FREE fun night of Improv at Algonquin Arts Theatre. Students 12 years of age and older are welcome to participate. Classes are scheduled to meet on select Friday evenings within the Fall 2016 and Spring 2017 semesters from 7:00pm-9:00pm.
